City clerk notes big donations to Elba library and cemetery board

by Linda Hodge, Editor

During the Elba City Council meeting held Monday evening, March 22, city clerk Sally Bane had a lengthy list of announcements for council members.

A really big and unexpected announcement was that of an estate donation made to two city entities.

Bane said the Elba Public Library and Evergreen Cemetery Board had been designated as beneficiaries of the Estate of Catherine Brunson Luening. She said the library and cemetery board would be receiving approximately $400,000 each from that estate.

Bane said the city was working now to facilitate how best to get those monies into annuity accounts for the library and cemetery board.

Bane also noted the Pittman Foundation had made a donation to TigerTown Park. She said Elba Parks and Recreation director Greg Hanchey was looking to replace some swing seats at that playground with monies from the donation.

While on the subject of parks and recreation, Bane said youth baseball and softball was in full swing with practices. She said games would begin the week after Easter.

The city clerk extended a huge thanks from the city to Troy Regional Medical Center for providing a COVID-19 vaccination clinic in Elba last Saturday. She said due to Troy Regional, somewhere between 150-160 people received the first of two COVID-19 vaccine shots.

Pike County jury convicts former doctor on rape / sodomy charges

A Pike County Jury last week found former medical doctor, Jean Senecal, guilty of two counts of rape – first degree; and two counts of sodomy – first degree.

Senecal had practiced medicine in the Troy, Alabama area. He also previously had practiced medicine in the Luverne, Alabama area in Crenshaw County.

According to the Twelfth Judicial District Attorney's Office, the charges resulted from a joint investigation of the Troy Police Department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

"I want to thank the investigators for their efforts, as well as Tarnisha Jones, the assistant district attorney that handled the prosecution of the case," District Attorney Tom Anderson said. "The vic-matter for a while now, and official action was taken this week.

Upon recommendation of Mayor Tom Maddox, the council approved a list of potential incentives for new businesses to include:

- Business license fees waived for the first year, pro-rated so that businesses opening late in the year would have the same benefit of this incentive as those opening Jan. 1st;

- A 50 percent rebate of sales tax paid to the city [excluding the school's portion of taxes] until an aggregate of $10,000 is abated. That amount would depend on the business and the expected sales volume or impact on the city and would have to be agreed upon by the council. Rebates would be paid annually for a maximum of two years;

- Provide a 20 percent discount on all utilities for the first year beginning when a certificate of occupancy is obtained.

The mayor said specific details on any incentives package would need to be discussed along with financial reviews and other

ELBA POLICE INVESTIGATE FIRST ACCIDENT AT NEW INTERSECTION...

Elba Police Chief Leslie Hussey said Monday night, March 22, that his department had investigated the first accident at the new U.S. Highway 84 / Alabama Highway 87 intersection last Saturday morning, March 20th [wreckage shown above from that accident]. Hussey said a bullet was dodged in this accident with no one injured, but he said it could have easily been a much different result. He said it was his understanding from his officers that one vehicle failed to stop at a stop sign, thus causing the collision. The two vehicles involved were a locally-owned Nissan Titan truck and an out-of-state Honda Pilot SUV. The police chief said the Honda was occupied by some college students on Spring Break, and the driver of that vehicle failed to stop at the stop sign of the all-way stop intersection.

Elba BOE approves hire for new technology coordinator

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The Elba Board of Education met Tuesday evening, March 16, for the regular monthly meeting, and Superintendent Chris Moseley said the schools had a lot of activities going on right now.

He said he met recently with his administrators, and the plan for Elba City Schools moving forward is to keep everything that is already scheduled for the end of the year as "normal as we would have in the past."

The superintendent said that did not mean there wouldn't be instances where everyone was still asked to wear masks or date changes might occur to prevent to many happenings all at the same time, but overall, he said the plan is to keep things as normal for students as possible.

"We dealt with a lot of students that had an abnormal end to their school year last year," Moseley said. "We do not want that to happen again, if possible."

He said the school system is still planning on allowing field days, awards days, and graduations as it normally would, but the administration realizes it might have to be flexible with dates in order to be able to have the events.

Another positive sign or 'returning to normal' for Elba City Schools was Moseley's announcement that the band students would be leaving Tuesday evening, March 23, on a trip to Universal Studios in Florida, which had originally been planned for last Spring but delayed due to the COVID pandemic.

Also, he said the Jason Tucker was working now with the school's show choir again to ensure the production of Disney's Aladdin Jr., which also had to be postponed from last school year due to COVID, would proceed this Spring before Elba's rights to the production expire. He said plans are for the show choir's production of Aladdin Jr to be held late April or early May.

After advertising recently for a new technology coordinator position for the school system, the superintendent asked the board to consider approving a salary schedule for the technology coordinator position.

Elba Chief of Police updates city council on vehicle situation

During the Elba City Council meeting held Monday evening, March 22, Police Chief Leslie Hussey said two of the seven recently acquired Ford Crown Victoria used vehicles [from Enterprise] had been taken to the body shop for painting.

He said it was estimated that would take about three weeks before the vehicles would be returned to the department. At that time, he said two more would go for painting, and the rotation would continue until all had been painted.

Hussey said he felt it would take about a month or so to get the first of the Crown Vic's on the road for Elba PD. He added that monies are still being spent to keep the Dodge Chargers repaired and operating. The plan is to replace the Dodge Chargers in the fleet with the Crown Vic patrol cars.

ELBA MAYOR GETS VACCINATED... Mayor Tom Maddox (center) was among those to roll up his/her sleeve last Saturday morning, March 20, and receive the first of two COVID-19 vaccination shots during a 'drive-thru' clinic hosted in Elba by the city and Troy Regional Medical Center. Troy Regional Medical Center now operates the Elba Medical Clinic office for Dr. Lance K. Dyess and Karen Kelley, C.R.N.P., and the medical provider joined forces with the City of Elba to offer this free COVID-19 vaccination clinic last Saturday on the grounds of Elba Church of Christ. The approximately 160 persons that received the first of two shots required for full vaccination from COVID-19 will return Saturday, April 10, for their second round shot. Reportedly, everything went great last weekend and many of those who came out to be vaccinated were very pleased with how organized the drive-thru clinic was for all. Dr. Dyess is shown above standing next to Mayor Maddox as he received his vaccine shot.

"In the spring, I have counted 136 different kinds of weather inside of 24 hours" - Mark Twain

Springtime is here – according to the calendar. It arrived last week during the depth of our latest cold snap. Folklore has it that South Alabama will always have an Easter cold snap but this one is a bit early in our thinking. Easter is just around the corner and we are probably going to still get that Eastertime early morning North winds in the next week or ten days.

Alabama Attorney General Steve Marshall joined 20 other state attorneys general in filing a lawsuit to block President Joe Biden's attempt to kill the Keystone XL pipeline that was planned to carry crude oil from Canada to Texas oil refineries. The multi-state lawsuit was filed last Wednesday in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Texas. Those filing the lawsuit note that shortly after being sworn into office, President Biden revoked the Keystone XL pipeline permit through an executive order. They add that the president is not constitutionally empowered to cancel the international contract. The lawsuit contends that only Congress has the legal authority to approve or cancel the pipeline permit and under the Constitution.

The debate over Daylight Savings Time (DST) heats up twice a year (when we are changing our clocks). This year a number of polls are showing a growing percentage of U. S. citizens supporting a move to 'stop the change' on the federal level. However, when you ask which way is best, with or without DST, the picture gets murkier. One group wants to keep DST or 'fast time' while another group points out reasons to completely do away with it. You can expect to see this debate go on for another year or so and a change will be made. A change to go full DST or back to regular time year-round is right now a flip of the coin chance either way.

President Joe Biden's advisers are reportedly planning to present a proposal to the president sometime this week that recommends carving his planned massive budget-breaking economic agenda into separate legislative pieces, rather than trying to push a package reported to be near a mammoth $3 trillion package through Congress – on top of the huge economic rescue package just passed in Washington. We have no idea what will be in this huge spending package (by a group already trillions overspent already) but one thing that keeps cropping up with the Washington bunch is highway and bridge updates all across the nation.

The news reports keep quoting Bernie Sanders when talking about bills passing the current U. S. Senate and House of Representatives. Then they start quoting him on "what his next project might be." This bothers us a bit. Sanders tried to run for president but the voters would have very little to do with him. Our thoughts at the time were that the majority didn't like his politics and/or his political promises. If the latter was a major issue, then why is he getting or claiming to be getting all the things he advocated approved? The latest thing we saw was him claiming to "push prescription drug reforms through reconciliation." Bernie be quiet for a while before other lawmakers start a voting backlash against some pretty good bills, hoping it will somehow shut you up!!

Cuzin Lou Lou tells herself each week that she will pick on someone or something other than Sister here in the Tales from Yonder...BUT... Sister just keeps giving her too many good things to work with each week! If Lou Lou ever mysteriously comes up missing, Sister might be the first suspect, and Lou Lou knows some that would say Sister was justified in her actions... Lou Lou is just thankful that Sister is a good sport about it all!

Now, let's delve into Lou Lou and Sister's latest Yonder adventure!

Papa got his first COVID-19 vaccine early last Saturday morning at a drive-thru clinic being sponsored in good 'ole Yonder. Lou Lou accompanied Papa as moral support, but she wasn't convinced at that moment to get the vaccine herself [nerves had gotten the best of her]. After returning home and seeing how well everything went for Papa, Lou Lou decided she would just go back and get the shot. She asked Sister to drive her down there because Lou Lou is a lefty, and she wanted the shot to be administered into her right arm. Her thought process was that if the arm got sore later, it would be better for her right arm to be sore rather than her left arm.

Sister's immediate reaction was, "No! You are not getting me to take you down there and then trick me into getting that shot!"

Sister is quite terrified of needles!!

Lou Lou assured her that she was only asking her to go to allow for her [Lou Lou's] shot to be given in the right arm. Sister finally agreed to drive Lou Lou down to the clinic.

Everything was going great until Lou Lou and Sister got there, and the first two people they encountered were friends of the pair...Friends that had also gotten the shot earlier in the morning.

They asked if both were getting the vaccine shot, and Sister quickly said, "No!" Lou Lou didn't say a word, but those two did not take no for an answer easily. One even had a medical history to use against sister to convince Sister to give in...It went something like this, "If I can get the shot considering all I've been through in the past medically...You can get the shot too!"

Sister had not good argument against that, and she agreed to get the shot.

However, the fun continued as the two proceeded to move up to the nurses actually administering the vaccines.

One nurse came over and gave Lou Lou her shot and was completely done before Sister quit whining about the pending prick of a needle! The nurse giving the vaccine shot to Sister actually knew her as well, so, she was not buying in to Sister's act; however, those that did not know her were concerned – one even asked if they needed to get the doctor on site to come and talk to Sister about the vaccine first.

Both Lou Lou and administering nurse said, "No!" Lou added, "Put the needle in her arm," knowing the longer they gave Sister to think about it, the bigger her whining was going to get! Administering nurse looked at her and said, "Take this shot!"

She took the shot, but she also yelled when she felt the prick and then whined because she saw blood after the needle was removed. Administering nurse put a band-aid over it, thus allowing the two to move on to the 'wait 15 minutes' parking lot.

All has gone well so far for Papa, Lou Lou and Sister; although, Sister has complained of more side effects since getting the shot! Lou Lou was not surprised!

Lou Lou did have a sore arm for the remainder of Saturday, but that soreness was much better by Sunday morning. Sister on the other hand, said her toes hurt Sunday morning when Lou Lou inquired as to how she was feeling – apparently the vaccine had made it all the way down to her toes!

Now, the task at hand will be convincing Sister to return on April 10th for the second of the two vaccine shots! Lou Lou may need some help on that one!

I guess it really should have been no surprise that Sister carried on the way she did regarding the vaccine shot...after all, she was the child that ran out of the facility and hid years ago when the nurses were trying to administer her routine booster shots. Then, when they got her back inside, it took Mama and extra nurses to hold her still long enough for the booster shots to be administered!

It's a never-ending cycle with 'ole Sister! Somebody give that girl a lollypop!!

Until next time...God Bless and Keep Smiling!!

Also, the council approved a motion to conduct a work session prior to its first bimonthly meeting each month [second Monday] at 5:30 p.m. to be followed by the council meeting at 6 p.m. [or as soon as the work session concludes, if past 6 p.m.].

seasonal spraying to combat the mosquito population in Elba

Code enforcement officer Bryson Dear also provided an update from his office during Monday evening's council meeting.

Regarding the FEMA flood buyout project, he said 18 homes had been purchased with demolitions completed on 16 of those. He said city employees demolished nine and seven were demolished by a contractor due to asbestos issues.

Dear said appraisals had been received on the latest 10 homes added to the project. He said these would pretty much conclude all the owner-occupied structures for the project, and the process would next move into rental properties.

Dear said the code enforcement office currently has 18 active property maintenance cases, which is down substantially compared to past dates. However, he said there would be potential for those cases to go back up some in the Spring as that always seems to be a trend.

Dear did say he had made it a priority of his to get some older cases closed, and he had made some good progress with that.

Dear said there are 25 unsafe structures currently on his list, bringing the total for open code enforcement cases to 43. On a good note, he said the numbers had brought the case closure rate up by over 7 percent since June 2020.

Also during his report, Dear noted that the council had been provided an updated flood plain ordinance to review. He said this is something the state is requiring, but it is not a major change for Elba. The council is anticipated to vote on the new flood plain ordinance at the next meeting.

The resignations and retirements will be effective at the end of the school year, according to the superintendent.

"I want to thank Mrs. Edith Sasser for all the years and time she has put into the high school lunchroom," Moseley said. "She has been a blessing."

Why Have a Public Viewing?

As the family members of a recently deceased loved one, you are under no obligation to have a public viewing. Some families will make the decision to keep the casket closed and restrict the grieving process to just a private funeral or interment service.

With that said, there is a reason why public viewings have for so long been part of many cultural, ethnic, and religious traditions. Though they are not always appropriate - especially if the body of the deceased has undergone some form of trauma - a public viewing can be an important way to facilitate the grieving process.

A public viewing is, above all else, profoundly visual. It allows a chance for friends and family members to see with their own eyes a final glimpse of the deceased - something that can provide closure. A public viewing is an important way to help mourners gain acceptance - yes, this beloved friend or family member has passed on, and this passing is final.

A public viewing can have special merit as far as children are concerned. For children who have not experienced loss or attended memorial services before, a public viewing can be a meaningful way for parents or grandparents to explain what has happened and to help them grasp its weightiness and its gravity. Of course, a prerequisite for this is that proper explanation is offered. Finally, public viewings are significant for loved ones who may not have seen the deceased in some time. If you just saw the deceased yesterday, in full robust health, you may feel more comfortable skipping the viewing, remembering him or her as you saw them in life; not everyone will have that luxury, though, and many friends and family members will covet a chance to say one last goodbye.

"In the past we have used a technology specialist, which falls under support staff," Moseley said. "We did not have a salary schedule set up for higher than a technology specialist. I think we all can agree we have to move faster in technology quicker than we have been [in the past]. In order to do that, we are going to have to step up, and that is why I recommend approving this salary schedule now."

Moseley said the new schedule would be a beginning for where the school system needs the technology coordinator position to eventually go.

The board voted unanimously to approve Moseley's recommendation for the salary schedule for the technology coordinator's position.

Later in the meeting, the board approved another recommendation from Moseley regarding the position. This recommendation was to approve the hire of Colby Capps to be the new technology coordinator for Elba City Schools, effective June 1st.

"We're taking another step in the right direction," Moseley said. "We are not trying to move all the way to the top of the mountain right away, but with his background in technology, I believe Capps can move us forward."

He is currently employed as a math teacher at Elba High School.

The superintendent said Capps had been notified that the recommendation for hiring him to be the technology coordinator would be forthcoming at the board meeting, and he said Capps knew he would be held accountable, if approved for the job, for the ideas the administration has regarding moving forward with technology for Elba City Schools.

Other personnel matters recommended by the superintendent and approved by the board included the accepting three elementary school resignation - Lindsay Swan, elementary special education teacher, along with DeReatha Tolle and Emilee C. Davis, elementary teachers.

Also, the retirement of high school CNP manager Edith Sasser was approved.

BE A BARNABAS

"...and they sent forth Barnabas, that he should go as far as Antioch. Who, when he came, and had seen the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted them all, that with purpose of heart they would cleave unto the Lord. For he was a good man, and full of the Holy Ghost and of faith: and much people was added unto the Lord." (Acts 11:22-24)

I like Barnabas! He was an encourager. His name means "son of consolation."

We know very little about him. He was a Levite from the island of Cyprus and the uncle of John Mark. But what made Barnabas so great was not his birthplace or background, it was his character!

According to Acts 4, Barnabas sold his property to support the ministry of the early church. In other words, he was sold out to the cause of Christ.

While we hear a lot more about Paul, it was Barnabas who brought Paul to the forefront of the church. In fact, when Paul was a young Christian, he went to Jerusalem attempting to connect with the disciples. But, because of his previous reputation they thought he was possibly faking faith to infiltrate the church. It is in Acts 9 that we find Barnabas speaking up for Paul, ensuring them his faith was indeed genuine. Barnabas was willing to risk his own reputation to help a person in need.

In Acts 15 we find the famous dispute concerning John Mark. In the end, John Mark was restored...because Barnabas refused to throw him away.

Again in Acts 15, we read, "Barnabas and Paul, Men that have hazarded their lives for the name of our Lord Jesus Christ." This tells us that Barnabas did not take the ways of least resistance (that is usually what makes rivers and men crooked).

When it was determined that the disciples at Antioch would send financial assistance to their Christian brethren dwelling in Judea, Barnabas was one of the men entrusted to hand deliver the money.

Barnabas was faithful, loyal, loving, selfless, and humble. In a word, Barnabas was Christlike.

Shouldn't that be every Christian's goal? Absolutely! But we need to know that Barnabas may not have always been as we know him. In Acts 4:36 we find, "And Joseph, who by the apostles was surnamed Barnabas, (which is, being interpreted, the son of consolation)..." Joseph was just a common name. But after he was converted and devoted himself to the cause of Christ, the disciples noted his excellent character and changed his name to Barnabas. We don't know what he was like before, but his post-conversion excellence was a by-product of the gospel at work in his life.

There is not a week which goes by that I don't see some area of my life where I need improvement. Barnabas serves as an excellent example of what Christ can do for us when we "with purpose of heart cleave unto the Lord."

God Answers Prayer

When Mary was a month old, she had her first check-up. Everything seemed fine until the next day when she appeared to be getting a cold. Pat and I took turns tending to our baby to keep her comfortable. About midnight, I turned Mary's care over to my wife. I tossed in the bed before praying, "God, if Mary will be alright, let me go to sleep so I will be alert for church." About 2:00 a.m., I heard my wife scream. I reached her in time to hear

Mary take her last breath. God didn't answer prayer for Mary's recovery the way we wanted. Instead, He gave us a gift of ministry. Many times, Pat and I had the privilege of sharing our story and God's comfort with other parents in similar circumstances.

In the years following Solomon's prayer, Israel walked far away from God. God's answer to Solomon's prayer was not always what the King would have expected. But, God's answer was always intended to bless Israel, calling the people back to their mission. — C.R.B.

LIFESTYLES

TRIBUTE IN MEMORY OF MAMA LORENE BLUE 60 YEARS LATER

"AND THE LIGHT WENT OUT"

It was on March 30,
1961

Just before the day
was done

When celestial host sounded
the gong

And the
went out!

Oh, that light bears memories for me; It lends a torch for me to see,
For all was made "well by thee" Before the light went out!
I heard her say, "Thy will be done" Just before he sounded the gong,
Yes, it all happened in '61, when the light went out!
Precious memories shall forever be, A solace to know she lives with thee.
Prepare me too, to go happily, when my light goes out!

Local flood warning system rain & river level gauges replaced by CPYRWMA

The Choctawhatchee, Pea and Yellow Rivers Watershed Management Authority (CPYRWMA) recently replaced three rain and river level gauges in Coffee and Dale counties. The gauges replaced include Elba on State Highway 84E on the Pea River, Lowery Mill on County Road 215 at Whitewater Creek, and Skipperville on State Highway 105N at the West Fork of the Choctawhatchee River. The new gauges are equipped with state-of-the-art radar technology and are critical gauges as they monitor rainfall and river levels on the Pea River and the Choctawhatchee. The gauges are a part of the CPYRWMA's basin-wide Flood Warning System (FWS).

The purpose of the FWS is to provide timely, reliable, and accurate warnings of potential flooding in areas experiencing threatening weather conditions. Information from the FWS is disseminated real time to Emergency Management Agencies, state and local officials, and the National Weather Service for use in preparing forecasts.

The CPYRWMA manages watersheds in the ten southeastern counties of Alabama focusing on water quality, water quantity, flood control and prevention, and water conservation education.

This photo shows the rain and river level gauge at the Pea River Bridge in Elba being replaced recently. The new gauge is equipped with state-of-the-art technology.

The Pressbox

By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

We took our grandson Lawson to Desoto Caverns, in Childersburg, over the weekend, and while we did walk quite a bit, he thoroughly enjoyed the trip and even explained to me the difference between stalactites and stalagmites. It was a weekend getaway for us all, and one he will long remember.

For what it is worth....

 The Elba Tigers saw their post-season hopes dashed last week with two area losses to G.W. Long that left the Tigers 0-2 in the area series. Just last week the Tigers had won five straight games and owned a 5-1 record, but they have now dropped five straight, including four area contests, and will be playing for pride the rest of the season. I know the players, coaches and fans are disappointed, but I believe the Tigers will bounce back and close the season with a bang to let everyone know that a pretty good team didn't make the playoffs.

 The Elba Lady Tigers will be happy to get a few days out of school for next week's spring break, but at the same time have to be a little disappointed about the timing of the break since they are on a roll and in the last three games have scored a total of 44 runs. All Lady Tiger fans believe that if the team can score five runs a game it will be hard to beat with Ayrika Caldwell inside the circle, and in recent games the team has had no problem scoring runs in bunches. Elba is in one of the state's toughest area's along with G.W. Long, Arlton and Zion Chapel. However, if the girls keep improving and keep knocking the ball all over the park they may just open some eyes and make post-season plans of their own.

 It was an interesting week of action in high school baseball and softball, especially in New Brockton, where the Lady Gamecocks finally put everything together to claim five wins to claim the championship of a tournament in Ozark, and the Gamecocks snapped a season-long losing streak with a win over Zion Chapel. The big news in Brantley was that both the Bulldogs and Lady Bulldogs were ranked #1 in the state in the first sportswriters poll of the season, while down at Kinston the Bulldogs swept a key area series with Pleasant Home and the Lady Bulldogs were only two outs away from an area win over the Lady Eagles when the rains hit. Up at Zion Chapel, the Rebels continued to improve in both sports, and are looking forward to the remainder of the season. Yep, we still have some fun left!

 Auburn University released the financial details of the salaries of the football coaching staff for the 2021 season and it was obvious the Tigers were ready to spend whatever it took to produce a winning team. The report revealed that the ten on-field coaches on new head coach Bryan Harsin's staff would take home a combined $6.44 million, while the head man would make a cool $5 million. Defensive coordinator Derek Mason will make $1.5 million, followed by offensive coordinator Mike Bobo at $1.3 million, while the offensive and defensive line coaches will both make $700,000. The low man on the totem pole will be the wide-receivers coach, who will take home $300,000. While the total is already pretty high, when you add in the buyouts for Gus Malzahn and his assistants, the total expenses for the season will exceed $70 million. Not exactly pocket change, even for a school like Auburn!

 The National Football League made its owners and players mighty happy last week when it signed a new 11-year TV deal with multiple networks worth $110 billion. The new deal will begin in 2023, with games to be televised on CBS, NBC, FOX, ESPN and Amazon. CBS will continue to be the home for the teams in the AFC, while NBC will house the NFC. NBC will televise Sunday night football, ESPN will keep Monday night football, and Amazon will air games on Thursday night. There is no doubt the contract will result in the networks raising fees to cable providers, which will result in a price increase to subscribers and that Amazon will help move games to new pay providers. I know the NFL is popular and has a huge fan base, but it's just hard to believe it is worth $10 billion per year to televise the games.

Lady Tigers stroll past Goshen 14-4

The Elba Lady Tigers used a 7-run third inning to erase an early 3-1 deficit and never looked back as they rolled to a lopsided 14-4 win over the Goshen Lady Eagles, Thursday afternoon in Elba.

Goshen used two walks to grab an early 1-0 lead in the top of the first inning, while Elba answered in its half of the inning as the Lady Tigers combined three walks with singles by Aimee Senn and Jayla Gray to pull even at 1-1.

The Lady Eagles made the most of two hits in the third to regain the lead at 3-1. However, Elba again had an answer for the Goshen rally and responded with a seven-run inning to move on top 8-3.

One out singles by Jayla Gray and Mikenzy Hooks sparked the third inning uprising, while consecutive two out singles by Ayrika Caldwell, Danaejah Flowers, Emily Richardson and Makinna Gray kept the rally alive as the Lady Tigers took command.

An rbi single by Andrya Chism upped the Elba lead to 9-3 in the fourth, and while Goshen cut the lead to 9-4 in the fifth, the Lady Tigers lead grew to 10-4 in the bottom of the inning when Makinna Gray was hit by a pitch and came around to score on a combination of passed balls and stolen bases.

The Elba Tigers carried a 3-1 lead into the bottom of the fifth inning, but saw G.W. Long put seven runs on the scoreboard in its half of the frame to grab an 8-1 lead and never again threatened in a 9-3 road loss to the third-ranked Rebels.

Elba left two runners on base in the top of the second after two-out singles by Connor Burrow and Paxton Wise, and trailed 1-0 heading into the third. However, the Tigers took advantage of one hit and three Long errors in the inning and plated three runs to take a surprising 3-1 lead.

John Martin Wilson drew a leadoff walk in the frame to spark the Tigers, while Peyton McCart and Carson Wise both reached on errors to load the bases with no outs. Iverson Lane came through with a clutch two-run double to knock in Wilson and McCart,

The Elba Tigers were tied at 3-3 heading into the bottom of the third inning last Monday afternoon in Hartford, but couldn't keep up and watched as the Geneva County Bulldogs pulled away to hand the Tigers a lopsided 17-3 road loss.

Elba grabbed an early 2-0 lead in the top of the first as John Martin Wilson walked, went to second on a single by Ty Sieving, and after both runners moved up on a passed ball, Iverson Lane delivered a 2-run single to plate both runners.

CEC conducting 2021 annual meeting via mail and online

Covington Electric Co-op takes great pride in the success of its annual meeting. The meeting is an opportunity for members to hear from co-op leaders, fellowship with each other and CEC employees, and participate in board elections among other activities.

Last year was the first time CEC has cancelled an annual meeting due to a national crisis. That difficult decision was necessary due to the rapidly emerging COVID-19 pandemic and the lockdowns that followed.

Preparations for CEC's annual meeting begin many months before the actual event; therefore, decisions have to be made early. With this in mind, CEC leaders did not see a safe way to hold a large in-person event again this year, especially considering a vast majority of annual meeting attendees represent those who are most vulnerable to the virus. As we all know, the pandemic was surging in late December and January when plans were being considered.

Like last year, CEC members can still make their voices heard when it comes to choosing their cooperative leadership. Each member should have already received an annual meeting packet in the mail that contains a ballot for the election of trustees to represent Districts I and II. This packet gives members the option to vote online using a specified website (not the CEC website) and a personal identification number, or they can cast their vote by mail using the pre-paid, self-addressed envelope. Ballots will not be accepted at any CEC office. The confidential ballot process is being conducted through an independent tabulator.

Financial information related to the previous year can be found in CEC's annual report that will be inserted in the April issue of Alabama Living magazine. A survey will also be included in the annual report. Members who complete the annual report survey and submit it to CEC by the stated deadline will receive an additional $5 bill credit. This survey can also be completed online at the CEC website covington.coop.

In place of door prizes, each member that votes in the board election will receive a $15 credit on their April bill and be entered into a drawing for bill credits ranging from $50 to $600, and three grand prizes of $2,500 each.

The winners of CEC's board election and the top six prize winners will be announced during a virtual business meeting that will be posted online at covington.coop on Thursday, April 1 at 3 p.m. Annual meeting reports will be presented by CEC's Board Chairman Willie Smith and the CEC General Manager Ed Short.

CEC will attempt to notify all prize winners by phone during normal business hours on April 2. A full list of prize winners will also be posted on the co-op's website that day.
